

I am knowledgeable

Why We Protect and Reasons to Share What We Know

Read the reasons we protect listed below. For every reason we protect what we know, come up with a corresponding reason to share that information with others. Then write in as many other reasons we protect and reasons to share as you can think of.

Reasons We Protect	Reasons to Share
Example: We like to be "the one in the know."	Example: We like to share what we know.
We don't see how sharing what we know with others is helpful to them.
We are of the belief that "knowledge is power."
We are of the belief that, if others want to know, they will ask.
Communicating what we know takes valuable time away from getting things done.

Everyday
Excellence

I am knowledgeable

Protect or Share

September 2016

I am knowledgeable

My customers rely on my knowledge and experience. I earn trust by sharing what I know and striving to learn more. My knowledge contributes to the health of patients and the future of our company.

I am knowledgeable

Protect or Share

Read the reasons we protect listed below. For every reason we protect what we know, come up with a corresponding reason to share.

Reasons We Protect

- We like to be “the one in the know.”
- We don’t see how sharing with others is helpful to them.
- We are of the belief that “knowledge is power.”
- We are of the belief that, if others want to know, they will ask.
- Communicating what we know takes valuable time away from getting things done.

Reasons to Share

- We like to share what we know.

I am knowledgeable

.....

Protect or Share

Read the reasons we protect listed below. For every reason we protect what we know, come up with a corresponding reason to share.

Reasons We Protect

-

Reasons to Share

-