

Weekly Updates

March 26, 2015

Test	Description of Changes	Affected Individuals
Simple Quality Assurance	Using the Cerner label is an easy way for all staff to perform Quality Assurance. You can check that the correct laboratory encounter (HAR) was used. 	All Staff
Unable to get a NPH Reference Appt	I believe I have solved the issue where you were unable to create a NPH Ref Lab appointment on the late evenings (Tu, W, Th). Please let me know if this still happens.	All Staff
Air Conditioner	Just another reminder: DO NOT TAPE the louvres on the air conditioning unit! Inevitably, they end up closed ☹️ Also, they have directed the air to the main room instead of directly ahead.	All Staff

Pharmacy Error Report	The quarterly pharmacy error report is on the office door for your review. Please ask if you have any questions.	All Staff
OB A1C with reflex testing	Update: We will be doing this through at least May, per Schabert. They are still reviewing data and determining the final protocol.	All Staff
Dimension Maint Log Change	We will begin using the maintenance logs feature on the Dimension starting April 1 st . For the month of April, we will be storing the info on Daisy and recording on paper. For may, we will discontinue the paper.	All Staff
Vpt vs Capillary collection	Sendouts: please remember to change the collection to capillary when a fingerstick is performed.	All Staff
Date of Service	When creating a reference lab visit, the date of the visit MUST match the date of the service. We have a procedure for creating an appt from a previous day, see Sherry or Denelle for assistance.

Procedure Additions, Updates and Changes: